

APOLLO-RIDGE
Education Foundation

In a world where funding for education is difficult to find, the Apollo Ridge Education Foundation aims to bridge the gap.

TAPPING MAPLE TREES TO MAKE SYRUP

Mr. Mike Saxion's Innovative Projects Grant

Mr. Saxion incorporated the process of making maple syrup into his first and second grade curriculum. The students tapped the trees, collected the sugar water, and were involved in the entire process of making syrup.

Beginning in March, parents/grandparents with knowledge of the process worked with the students to educate them on all that's involved and assisted them with collecting and processing the raw liquid.

Since the students enjoyed a pancake breakfast with the syrup they made, the project was considered a success!
